

Nicholas Tall

Solicitor
Alden Legal
London, UK

Summary

Nicholas Tall is a commercial solicitor who advises on commercial agreements in the satellite and space sector, telecommunications, IT and media fields, together with general commercial agreements, including equipment manufacture, distribution, collaboration, terms and conditions of supply and purchase and agency. He additionally advises on data protection compliance and intellectual property rights.

Nicholas often undertakes precedent drafting and updating for clients to prepare standard form documents, for use in both consumers and business to business transactions. He additionally has broad experience in assisting buyers and sellers in due diligence transactions in sale and purchase transactions.

Nicholas has developed his commercial practice since qualifying in 1999 and is a former partner in the commercial team at Speechly Bircham (now Charles Russell Speechlys) in London.

Over and Above

Relevant Work Experience

---

- Advising on and drafting satellite procurement contracts
- Advising on and drafting small satellite launch services contracts
- Advising satellite manufacturers on their data compliance policies and obligations
- Advising on complex collaboration agreements for participants in the space sector
- Advising software owning companies on their licensing, hosting, development and implementation arrangements with their customers
- Advising medical device company on its international sale and support arrangements, including appointment of distributors and agents, and preparation of standard form documents, including liaising with local lawyers (German, French, Polish) in respect of local law issues
- Advising rights owning media company on all of its development, ownership and licensing (TV, film, merchandising etc) arrangements

www.wearealden.com